CODE OF CONDUCT REGULATIONS

Whereas MGSA (The Club) is a social organization for the purpose of the achievement of the Joy of Soaring, we resolve that the membership shall behave toward each other in a civil manner, and for the greater purpose of The Club.

Members shall at all times treat other members with the respect they themselves require. No member shall publicly (i.e. to the rest of the membership at least) denigrate another member for any reason. Potentially libelous remarks, character assassination, personal attacks, threats and harassment is incompatible with the best interests of the Club.

Members who fill official positions shall remember that they represent the Club to the public. They act as representatives of the Club to outside entities and shall act accordingly. Members, including officers, not delegated to a specific activity must not interfere with, or circumvent, the activities of those delegated. Any disagreement with official policy or procedure must be solved internally within the Club before interacting with outside entities.

Members shall carry out the duties assigned to them, and those for which they have volunteered, in a diligent manner, to the best of their ability. A member unable to carry out duties or assignments must notify the governing body as soon as possible.

Members shall deal honestly and forthrightly with each other in a respectful manner. Any member criticizing another shall do so in a constructive manner, and in the spirit of fellowship.
